DEATH OF PROMINENT PRIEST.

Rev. A. J. Barron of Bennington Had Been Long in Ill Health.

Bennington, Nov. 24.—The Rev. A. J. Barron, permanent rector of the Church of St. Francis de Sales, died Sunday morning. He had been in poor health for more than a year but his final illness dated from November 7. Father Barron was a native of South Burlington and was born September 17, 1858. He obtained his education at the University of Vermont and at the parochial schools of Burlington, and later studied under the Fathers of St. Sulpice in Montreal. He was ordained in Burlington August 31, 1884, and was first assigned to St. Peter's church, Vergennes, but his first permanent parish was the Church of Our Lady of the Rosary, Richmond, where during a pastorate of eight years he brought about extensive improvements in the church property.

In June, 1892, the Rev. Father Barron was sent by Bishop DeGoesbriand to Bennington to take the parish of St. Francis de Sales where a vacancy existed because of the promotion of the late Rev. John Michael to be coadjutor. Here in Bennington Father Barron took up the latter work in completing a church which was consecrated early in his pastorate. In addition to completing the church, he purchased a site and built St. Francis de Sales academy on North street, a structure that could not be duplicated to-day for less than $80,000. The Rev. Father Barron's silver jubilee, the 25th anniversary of his ordination, was observed by the parish in 1909. The exercises extended over three days and were attended by more than 100 priests. On the death of Bishop Michael, Father Barron was one of the three priests from among whom it was believed a successor would be chosen.

The funeral will be held Wednesday morning at ten o'clock at the Church of St. Francis de Sales and the mass will be sung by the Rt. Rev. Joseph J. Rice.

TRAIN DASHED
AMONG WORKMEN

Six Men Killed and Two Seriously Injured at Berlin, Germany.

SHE GOT WRONG BODY.

It Was Not That of Fiance and Woman Is Grief Stricken.

Avoca, N. Y., Nov. 24.—Miss Rynders of this village not only has the estate of her fiancé, James Greene, who disappeared on the eve of his wedding day, to look after, but in addition now has the body of an unknown man, probably hundreds of miles from his relatives, on her hands.

The body, which was positively identified by Thomas Hatch in Jackson, Mich. Thursday as being that of James Greene, the missing bridegroom, arrived here last night and one glance was enough to prove to Miss Rynders that she had paid the expense of bringing the body of an unknown man to this village and Miss Rynders is in a grief-stricken state.

How Hatch, who knew the real Greene, could ever have mistaken the man killed in Michigan for the missing bridegroom is a mystery to every one here. The body received here has a smooth face, while Greene had a moustache, the dead man has sandy hair, as did Greene, but it is streaked with white while Greene had no white hairs whatever. Judging from his hands, the man was not used to hard work, while Greene was a farmer. A dimple under his left ear, by which the body was positively identified Thursday night, turns out to be simply an abrasion.

The mystery surrounding the strange disappearance of Greene, who has not been seen since he went to Rochester to buy his wedding outfit several weeks ago, is just as deep as ever. The supposition here is that he is a victim of amnesia and is roaming around somewhere, and search for him will now be taken up with renewed vigor.

RANDOLPH.

State Horticultural Society Closes Very Successful Convention.

The final day of the Vermont state horticultural meeting was the largest and most interesting of the whole, although the entire session was very successful and considered superior to any previously held by the society. Friday morning, "Raspberry Culture," was considered by George Aiken of Putney, and a discussion led by A. M. Vaughan followed. "Quince," Henry Study of Cambridge; "Common Diseases of the Potato," by Prof. B. F. Latham, University of Vermont, Burlington. Friday afternoon, "Some General Problems in Fruit Culture" was given by Samuel Fraser of Genesee, N. Y.; "Why I Like to Grow Apples," by T. L. Kinney, South Hero; "Good Methods in Plant Improvement," Dr. J. K. Shaw of the Massachusetts Agricultural college, Amherst. The election of officers followed, when A. M. Vaughan of Randolph was elected president; Prof. M. B. Cummings, Burlington, secretary, and W. C. Colton of Montpelier, treasurer. The vice president was not made known and may not be until the meeting of the executive committee, it may be month later. The evening was taken up until a late hour with papers on "Possibilities of Nut Culture in New England," by Dr. W. C. Deming, secretary Northern Nut Growers' association, Georgetown, Conn.; "The Honey Bee the Fruit Grower's Ally," George W. Perry, Chester Depot, Rev. W. T. Sparhawk followed with his illustrated lecture. The music for the evening was furnished by a male quartet from Randolph Center school, which was very enjoyable. The association received invitations to hold their meetings next year in Burlington, Bennington, Bristol and Montpelier, but it was not decided which to accept. A sum of $100 was given by the state society, and about $70 from the Tri-Town association which was awarded in prizes to the best grades of products in all classes. Competent judges were in attendance, who gave the final rendering. It was conceded by all that this was the largest of any meeting previously held, both as to exhibits and attendance, there being a good audience to all the sessions, and the last session extended to past 11 o'clock.

WILL DISCUSS
MEXICO MATTER

Pres. Wilson Preparing Special Message to Give to Congress

REPEATS BELIEF
HUERTA IS LOSING

Also Wilson Says He Never Will Recognize Huerta

Washington, D. C., Nov. 24.—President Wilson's belief that the Huerta government is slowly crumbling was reiterated to-day at the White House. Discussing the situation generally, the president pointed out that the local press in Mexico could print uncontradicted and baseless statements as to the future intentions of the United States, but the Washington government, it is known, is irrevocably determined that under no circumstances will it recognize Huerta. There were no new developments in the situation but added interest developed in the president's forthcoming message to Congress when it became known that it would include a statement giving the status of the Mexican situation.

THE CREAMERY FAILURE.

Creditors Met at Montpelier and Discussed the Situation.

One hundred creditors of Charles F. Eddy, proprietor of many creameries about the state, met in the memorial room of the city hall, Montpelier, Saturday afternoon to have explained to them the exact standing of his financial affairs. C. C. Graves of Waterbury and O. E. Luce of Stowe, assignees, gave a list of the creditors and the amounts owed them, with a general resume of the assets in cash and the outstanding debts.

The statement as read was as follows: Assets—Real estate, $2,000; personal, $11,892.50; notes, stocks, etc., $1,183.72; back accounts, $6,741. Total $21,817.31. Liabilities—Amounts owed patrons of the Eddy creameries at Westminster, Montpelier, Cavendish, Evansville, Hortonville, Morrisville, Waterbury, Mount Mansfield, $12,791.09; other debts, $17,794.30, making a total of $30,585.39, from which it deducted $5,700 for mortgages and notes receivable, leaving the net liabilities at $24,885.39, or a deficit of $12,068.08.

According to further statements, there is on hand $4,000 in cash, with checks coming in for small amounts, one for $1,800 being received Friday from Boston. Patrons of the Montpelier creamery are due in the vicinity of $5,000 for milk delivered between October 1 and November 10, while the total amount due patrons in the state is $22,000.

In regard to the selling of two creameries by Mr. Eddy a few days before he went into bankruptcy, it was said he sold them then with the idea that he could get more for them than the assignees could after he went into bankruptcy. Assignee Graves said Mr. Eddy sold the Montpelier creamery for $3,000, just what he paid for it, and the Evansville property for $3,400, a profit of $400. The money has been turned over to the assignees, also two automobiles and livestock.

Eddy is connected with creamery business in New York, though in reality only as an employee and two notes of $500 each are in the hands of the assignees, which were paid over by his New York employers. All collectable accounts will be closed at once, so that final adjustment may be reached as soon as possible and the assignees will appear in various sections of the state where creditors are numerous to enlighten them as to the exact situation.

It is the general opinion that more milk will hereafter be sent to the large firms in the cities, which are required to deposit surety bonds with the state to secure payment to farmers.

AGED 81, SUES FOR DIVORCE.

Harmon Huntley Wants Bill on Ground of Desertion.

Burlington, Nov. 24.—A man eighty-one years old appeared in Chittenden county court Saturday seeking a divorce from his wife, who also is well along in years. The man who is seeking the divorce is Harmon Huntley, and his wife, Sophronia Huntley, lives within a stone's throw of the court house. The ground alleged is desertion. Judge Stanton, after hearing the libellant, put over the hearing until another time for further testimony.

According to the story by Mr. Huntley, he married Sophronia Lasell in this city on September 19, 1908, and the aged couple lived together at Burlington, Bristol and for a short time at Essex Court. The expense of boarding out caused these newly married people to look around for cheaper quarters. Mr. Huntleys owned a place in Jericho, subject to a mortgage of $175. He said they agreed one night that Mrs. Huntley should go to Burlington next day, where she had money in the bank, draw out the money and pay the mortgage. Next morning Mrs. Huntley was of a different mind and decided not to live with her recently acquired spouse any longer. Mr. Huntley said she left him at that time and he had not seen her since. He said he tried to dissuade her from leaving him.

Mrs. Huntley alleges that her children refused to live with her again if she remained with Mr. Huntley.

VERSATILE MAN JAILED.

Charles Drowns Could Turn Things Into Money Easily.

Burlington, Nov. 24.—Charles Drowns was sentenced to spend the next three months in the house of correction Saturday in city court by Judge Palmer, in answer to a plea of guilty to a charge of petit larceny. Drowns is the man who impersonated the advance man of Uncle Tom's Cabin show, relieving a number of people of passes and taking down a number of lithographs. He also started in obtaining business under false pretenses. To do this he told various stories. He went to the house of Adolphus Ploof on North avenue and said he was a hackman and had four passengers. The harness had broken and as he desired to carry them to their destination, he would like to borrow a harness, promising to return it in a short time. Ploof delivered the harness under false pretenses. More harnesses were obtained of Arthur Hamlin on Archibald street and Joseph Kirby on Chase street. At these places different stories were related in order to get the goods. Just how much business was done by Drowns in Burlington is not known, but up to date it is known that four harnesses were obtained by him.

FELL ON GLASS.

And Other Football Players Fell on Angelo Colombo.

While playing football with a number of youthful companions in Presidential hollow on the west side Saturday afternoon, Angelo Colombo, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Colombo of 15 George street, fell on a broken bottle, inflicting a bad cut on the left leg below the knee. Two amateur teams were indulging in a scrimmage and at the first rush young Colombo found himself at the bottom of a pile of embryo Brickleys. So excited were the players that they did not hear his muffled cries, but an elderly person who was watching the contest, was able to pull the tangle of young people apart. Colombo was suffering from a jagged wound, which bled profusely, and the broken fragment of a bottle on the ground nearby easily accounted for the cut. Dr. P. S. Duffy was called to dress the wound. It extended diagonally across the leg and eight stitches were required to close it. Small particles of glass were removed before the sewing was started. Colombo will be confined to the house to-day, but unless blood poisoning develops, he will be back in school by next week.

BATTERED BODY
FOUND IN ROAD

William Conley of Bridgewater Thought to Have Been Pounded to Death

TWO ARRESTS MADE
PENDING INQUIRY

There Is Alleged to Have Been a Drunken Row

Woodstock, Nov. 24.—George Duran and Dolu W. Phaneuf were taken into custody late yesterday afternoon and are held in county jail on suspicion of complicity in the death of William Conley of Bridgewater, whose bruised body was found lying in a driveway near Duran's house, about four and a half miles from here on the road to Bridgewater. The tragedy is thought to have been the result of a drunken row, though Duran disclaims all knowledge of any trouble.

Duran operates a cider mill near his home and many customers dropped in yesterday as on other days, but he says sweet cider is the only beverage used as far as he knows.

Phaneuf is a boarder at his house and had left to go to Myron Reed's, by whom he is employed as a farmhand, to get a check for labor. Coming back he discovered Conley's body lying beside the driveway, face down, as if asleep. Conley was taken into Duran's house and attempts made to revive him, as Duran says they thought perhaps he was still living. Three officers and physicians were summoned and Conley's body was brought to the undertaking rooms here.

Deputy Sheriff J. H. Ober made the arrests, returning to jail here with the prisoners about 7 o'clock. The story of the tragedy as learned by the officers contradicts Duran's tale, and the latter, they say, was somewhat intoxicated when arrested. Evidence points to a fight among the men at Duran's house, in which Duran and Phaneuf got the best of Conley and Russell. The latter, who bears marks of a fracas, is held as a witness. Duran has a wife and several children. Conley, it is understood, was a journeyman weaver.

SEEK ASSAILANT OF ERNEST MILES

John Phillips of Walden Alleged to Have Stabbed His Fellow-Townsmen on Last Friday.

Greensboro, Nov. 24.—A posse of about 20 men, under the direction of State Attorney W. A. Dutton and Sheriff W. H. Worthen of Caledonia county, have been scouring the woods around the town since Friday night, trying to get some trace of John Phillips of Walden. Phillips is wanted for the alleged assault on Ernest Miles, also of Walden. It is claimed that in a dispute between the two men on Nov. 13 Phillips stabbed Miles in the head. The wound was not considered serious and the affair was not reported to the authorities until last Friday, and in the meantime Phillips disappeared.

Miles, although his wound is regarded as serious, will probably recover. Phillips is 33 years old and has a wife and five children in Walden. The alleged fight between the two men was the result of an argument over the ownership of a few hens. Although the sheriff's force has been on Phillips' trail since Friday night it is thought that he is on his way to the Canadian border.

DEATH AT PLAINFIELD.

Mrs. Lucretia Gibson Died Saturday—Funeral To Be Held Tuesday.

Plainfield, Nov. 24.—Mrs. Lucretia Gibson, 71 years old and has a wife and five children in Walden. The alleged fight between the two men was the result of an argument over the ownership of a few hens. Although the sheriff's force has been on Phillips' trail since Friday night it is thought that he is on his way to the Canadian border.

Mrs. Gibson is survived by one sister, Mrs. Robert Lindham, of Barre, and an adopted daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Bartlett, who has been caring for her during her last illness.

The funeral service will be held at the Methodist church Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. A. W. Hewitt will officiate. The burial will be in the village cemetery.

The announcement was a surprise, coming as it did two weeks after the resignation of the Rev. Father Edward Reynolds, who resigned November 16 after almost 32 years of service as rector of St. Charles. The Rev. Father O'Brien has been very active in his work during his stay here and this was the first parish in which he had served. The Rev. Father J. D. Shannon will serve without the assistance of a curate for the present, it is believed.

MONTPELIER STONE-
SHED DESTROYED

Lowe-Mercer Co. Plant, Formerly H. J. Bertoli's, Was Burned Early Sunday Morning.

The Lowe-Mercer Co.'s granite plant, formerly H. J. Bertoli's, located off River street in the Pioneer section of Montpelier, was destroyed by fire early Sunday morning, making the fifth stone shed in Montpelier to burn during the past three years. Practically nothing was saved, so rapidly did the flames spread.

It was a few minutes before 1 o'clock that the fire alarm was rung and for the reason the scene is about a mile from the Montpelier fire station, the flames had a chance to gain great headway before the fire department arrived. The entire plant was enveloped in fire at the time the firemen got three lines of hose laid from a hydrant on River street and across the Central Vermont track, so that most of the efforts were directed toward saving the Bonazzi & Bonazzi stone shed to the north and the covered bridge over the highway to the eastward.

The flames lighted up the section with a great glare and, in addition, high tension power wires on the river side of the plant added their brilliant display to the spectacle. In fact, there was considerable apprehension felt by the firemen that the high voltage wires would do injury until the power was turned off. By that time the shed was practically in ruins, the sides collapsing and allowing the machinery to fall into a tangled mass, including a Lane traveling derrick.

Nothing remains except the extreme northern end of the stone shed and the office building, which is partially burned on the north and east sides. During the progress of the fire the books, papers and drawings of the firm were removed from the office building. The derrick fell with a great crash when the fire was at its height. Sparks flew to the roof of the covered bridge nearby, but the flames were extinguished so that no damage was done. Likewise, the Bonazzi & Bonazzi plant was not damaged.

One line of hose strung across the Central Vermont track was severed by the wheels of a passenger train bound from Montpelier to Barre before the train was notified by the frantic signaling of many people. Then the train was held up until the other lines of hose were removed from the track.

The fire throws about a score of men out of employment. The Lowe-Mercer Co. had not been operating the plant very long and, in fact, the validity of the deed is in the courts at the present time. About a year after H. J. Bertoli died, his widow gave deed to the Lowe-Mercer Co. for $6,500, whereupon three creditors of the Bertoli estate, namely, the Wetmore & Morse company, Marvin & Sherrin and the Corry, Deavitt & Frost company, brought suit in chancery to contest the validity of the deed given under provision of the will, claiming that permission to sell should have been secured through the court. It was also asserted in the argument that the plant was sold below its actual value.

The case went to the Vermont supreme court on a demurrer, and at the opening of the November term of the court the demurrer was overruled and the cause sent back to chancery court, where it rested at the time of the fire.

In the year and a half that they have operated the plant, the Lowe-Mercer Co. added considerable new machinery and the plant was considered quite well equipped, being also comparatively new, having been erected by Mr. Bertoli less than a dozen years ago, at a cost said to have been around $15,000.

An insurance of $22,000 was carried, divided as follows: J. G. Brown's agency, $9,000; B. A. Sumner's agency, $9,000; Vermont Mutual Fire Insurance company, $3,000, of which $1,000 was transferred to the Burlington Mutual; Granite Mutual Fire Insurance company, $1,000.

The cause of the fire has not been determined, but Chief Pattee of the Montpelier fire department is inclined to think that it started in the blacksmith shop and worked from there into the power room. He adds that it did not start from electric wiring, as the current was turned off from the building.

A very pretty wedding occurred this morning at St. Augustine's church at Montpelier when Joseph LeRoy Haddigan, son of Mrs. Hattie Haddigan of 101 Prospect street, Barre, and Miss Ethel Mary O'Brien, daughter of Mrs. Rose O'Brien, 79 Elm street, Montpelier, were united in marriage. Immediately after the wedding the newly married couple repaired to the home of the bride's mother on Elm street, where a wedding breakfast was served. Friends of the couple were present.

Frank Morse of Granville Was Hurt Jumping from State Library

BUTTOCKS PROTRUDED
ONTO THE GROUND

Death Came to Him After Ten Days of Intense Suffering

Randolph, Nov. 24.—Frank Morse, aged 23, of Granville, died at the Randolph sanatorium Saturday following an injury sustained several days ago when he broke one leg. He was driving a pair of horses attached to a heavy load and when something went wrong with the team he jumped from the load, fracturing one leg. The injury was found to be serious, and the man was brought to Randolph, which is many miles from the scene of the accident.

After being placed in the sanatorium, the man's limb was cared for as well as could be done, but he suffered intensely until Saturday when he died of lockjaw. It is supposed that he contracted infection at the time of the break, as the bones pierced the skin and came in contact with the ground. The body was taken back to Granville on Saturday.
